Problem Statement

NYC is always offering a variety of small and sometimes free music events. These can feature new and underground artists as well as big names.

Billie wants to attend more of these events but only hears about them and doesn't have time to search for them. How might we help Billie stay informed of these experiences while keeping her notified of when they are happening?